M1 student of The Division of Life Sciences,
Ochanomizu University
Pham Thuy Linh

The joint meeting of four universities Leading Programs on 3-4 June 2017 was etched in my memory. The main language in the workshop was Japanese that was difficult for a non-Japanese speaker like me. Although I couldn't understand all the information in the meeting, I got the main meaning and the messages from professors. Regarding the workshop, the presentation of Dr. Ohki and tasks for team discussion about motivation, the power of communication and effective work environmental were salutary lectures. They emphasized the importance of the sharing for the stronger overview, activeness for work development, making and keeping motivation in the future occupation as well. Besides, professors got the direct orientations for students' targets and advice for future. Moreover, they also inspired students through sharing their enthusiasm. This was an admirable thing that professors and students together participated activities together. In my opinion, this those meeting opened opportunities for widening relationship and enhancing positive communication.

In addition, the food in camp was delicious. We enjoyed the BBQ and talked so much, even laughed out loud in the late chattering. I still remembered the Ping-Pong game in the morning after. It was the first time I played table tennis and served ball successfully after received the devoted guide of the teammate. This Meeting Camp not only encouraged my passion in work, but also gave me a chance for making new friends and refreshed my mind.

I would like to thank Leading Center and professors who held a meaningful Meeting Camp!
